

Introduction to UMN Extension

The University of Minnesota extension Service provides a variety of education services that are designed to help the state protect its waters. When you begin your work as a Master Water Steward, these are great resources for you to know about. Take a few minutes before diving into Stormwater 101 to get familiar with a few of the programs offered by UMN Extension.

Learning Activity

Explore the following sites, and think about how you could make use of the resources Extension provides. Whether you are interested in stormwater, policy, or other water issues, Extension is a great partner.
